

Shipping Resource Links

I'm giving you access to all of the shipping resources I use to ship all of my products. There may be cheaper sources out there. This is just what I use, so I know the quality of each of these products. You will find Amazon links to a lot of my packaging since I am a Prime member. You will need to find what works best for you and your business with shipping. Honestly Amazon is always my go to, due to the two day shipping. A lot of times when you calculate shipping from other companies Amazon is cheaper (Not all the time, but at times I am willing to pay more and not to have to research). I have been packaging and shipping 500-700 signs a month for the last 3 years and these are the products we use every day with them. Branding resources are not included here, but will be included with our branding topic. Each picture and text is clickable to take you directly to the resource.

Cheers from my cup of coffee to yours!
--Ashley Raetz

Shipping Links 1/2

Poly Mailers: 19" by 24" 100ct

8.5x14.5 Poly Bubble Mailers Padded Envelope Shipping Supply Bags

12" by 15.5" Bubble Mailers Padded Envelope Shipping Supply Bags

Bubble Wrap: 350 ft. 12" wide perforated every 12".

8" by 4.75" by 10" paper bags with handles

Packing Tape 2" by 110 yrds. Pack of 36

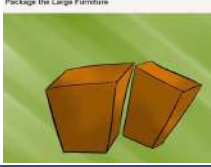

Long boxes-we use to ship planter boxes. 26" by 10" by 10"

Boardwalk K3040765 Kraft Paper, 30 in x 765 ft, Brown

Shipping Links 2/2

Another packaging resource I like because of the variety of sizes of boxes.

A resource to learn how to package large furniture.

This company has the large corrugated flat sheets--- I have only looked into these and have not purchased so I can't vouch that this is a good company to order from. BUT have looked at their product for larger items a few times. So please look into this further before purchasing as I have no personal history with them.

This is the postal scale we use.

Most of the time we didn't use these, I literally just used paper, but we have used shipping label paper before. It is quicker BUT I always have issues with my printer with them. But they are a time saver once you get to shipping several packages a week.

You can also use these to fold your shipping labels, paper, etc into.

Link to Etsy shop where I purchased my giant logo stamp that I use to stamp my boxes. I just buy a big stamp pad off of Amazon.

We use a DYMO label printer now to print our shipping labels out. You can click here to see it.

Dymo printer refills.